

Executive Summary

Transferable is a simplistic solution for managing restaurant bookings, addressing the common challenges users face in keeping track of their dining reservations. Users can effortlessly search for restaurants on an interactive map, enhancing the process of tracking the restaurants. The app allows users to edit bookings seamlessly, providing flexibility with details such as restaurant name, party size, date, time, and location. The main interface offers a user-friendly experience, showcasing both past and present bookings, with convenient filters to specifically view restaurants they have booked. The sorting feature further streamlines the process of looking for the bookings. This application not only simplifies the reservation tracking process but also offers a visual and organized approach to managing dining plans. Within the App Store landscape, it caters to the growing demand for simplistic, efficient and user-centric restaurant booking tracking tools. The app is open to anyone.